Soldiers Hill's art creatives on show

AN ART exhibition representing the wonders of Soldiers Hill will take place in Ballarat this month.

Presented by the Soldiers Hill Artist Collective, the show is entitled Our Soldiers Hill and sees the artists represent their beloved suburb through art.

SHAC member and emerging artist Judith Bryce said this was the second exhibition for the collective and further developed the group's cohesiveness.

"The group consists of a diverse range of artists, practicing across many art forms and media," she said.

"This collective is evolving as more residents become involved. It is a really cohesive, creative group with some well-known people and some lesser known people and that is part of the whole structure of the group.

"Everyone is supportive and mentoring one another and that's wonderful."

SHAC welcomes all artists living within the Soldiers Hill boundaries.

Our Soldiers Hill will be held at Fairbanks Eye Gallery until the end of October.
